The Ginn Development Company and the City of Charleston's Department of Planning, Preservation and Economic Innovation will be hosting a series of community workshops for a planned development, the Promenade. The Promenade property is located in the East Central/Lower Neck area of Charleston's peninsula near North Romney Street and Morrison Drive, on and around the old Romney Street landfill. All workshops will be open to the public, and input on the development will be considered by the design team (Design Works/Ginn Development Company) and the City of Charleston during the next stages of planning. There are still many plans and details to be worked out, and the public's input will be vital to constructing the plan for this area of Charleston. The workshops will run from Monday, July 28th to Wednesday, July 30th. There will be a public presentation of the design concepts at the close of each workshop.
